THE FOUNDRY - INTERNAL REPORT BRIEF - COLOR EDITION

Foundry Report Brief

Meeting of Friday, October 23, 2026 - reported Saturday, October 24, 2026

Three members met with a new founder. The Foundry now stands at six founders in total - every person named in this brief is a founder. This edition separates every founder and every brand by color, gives Puff, TFB, and Capital Gains each their own section with format, script, song, and website, gives Section 6 as talking-point lists only, and adds a minutes and reporting section so the whole house can be run from one place. Section ownership is named at the head of each section, in founder colors.

How the colors work

Each founder keeps one color through the whole document. Wherever a task appears - in the master list, in a brand section, in the minutes - it is printed in its owner's color, with the owner's name on a matching chip. Each brand also keeps its own color on its section heading.

Dj Jones Bey - Gold

Niles - Teal

State - Blue

Puff - Purple

Chuck - Orange

OC - Green

The one date that governs everything else

Grand Theft Auto VI launches on Thursday, November 19, 2026. Black Friday falls on Friday, November 27, 2026 - eight days later. Launch week and sale week are one campaign, not two.

Prepared for the six founders. Distribution: founders only.

1. The meeting, and the six founders

Section owners: Dj Jones Bey

On Friday, October 23, 2026, three members of the Foundry met with a new founder. With that meeting the circle is six founders in total - the new founder is one of the six named below, not a seventh person. All members on here are founders. Each founder's own tasks are listed under his name, in his color.

Dj Jones Bey

Founder - reporting founder

2. Master to-do list - color-coded by founder

Every task named at the meeting, in order. The chip and the task text carry the owner's color, so the list can be read by color alone.

2	Puff radio song - the show's own song, at breaks and close	Final mix approved; clean and explicit versions logged	Puff

Tasks for Chuck and OC beyond their founder roles were not assigned at the October 23 meeting. Their first tasks are recorded through the clickable intake in Section 10 and logged in the minutes in Section 11 - they are not guessed here.

3. IP One - Puff: radio format, songs, website

Section owners: Puff

PUFF - PURPLE Held as the Incubator's active project: Puff's site and radio show, built together. The show needs a home the audience can act on - listen, buy, book, and join - and the site is that home.

The radio format - the same architecture every episode

Segment	Length	Content and talking points
Cold open	0:30	One sharp line from the day's topic. No introductions yet.
Intro song	0:15-0:30	Puff intro song, with State - short cut only; the full cut is for live appearances.
Welcome and premise	2-3 min	Who is on, what the episode settles, what the listener can do by the end.
Block One	8-10 min	The main talking points, in script order. One claim per point, one example per claim.
Song break 1	Full song	Puff radio song. Under the last 20 seconds: the site offer, read once, plainly.
Block Two	8-10 min	The counterpoint - the objection and the mistake - answered with the same points turned around.
Caller / consultation	8-12 min	One caller, one problem, one direct answer. Recorded with consent, always.
Song break 2	Full song	Rotating: the TFB song or the Capital Gains song, matching the episode's subject.
Close	2 min	Restate the one action. Name the next episode. Credits over the radio song's outro.

The two Puff songs

- Puff intro song - with State: announce Puff and State by name inside the first fifteen seconds; work at 15 seconds (show cut) and in full (live cut); recognizable from its first two bars.
- Puff radio song: carry the show's name and premise; leave a quiet final 20 seconds for the offer read; sit comfortably beside any topic in the timeless bank.

WEBSITE - THE SHOW'S HOME ON THE SITE

Show website: website address to be added - click to go to the intake and add it (Section 10)

The Puff page on the site carries: the live show and episode archive, both songs, the offers (consultation, lecture, appearance, apparel), the booking path, and the show's social links. Done when: a visitor can listen, buy, book, and join from a phone, tested end to end.

The full timeless script is on the next page, ready to perform.

3. Puff - timeless script, ready to perform

Episode 1 - "Start Before You Feel Ready." Timeless: true in any month, with no news, date, or price reference. Talking points: action precedes confidence; the first version is tuition; done in public beats perfect in private.

COLD OPEN - PUFF, STRAIGHT TO MIC: "You are not waiting for confidence. You are waiting for permission - and nobody is coming to give it. This is the show. Let's work."

INTRO SONG (0:15 CUT) - PUFF INTRO SONG, WITH STATE.

WELCOME: "Welcome to the show. I'm Puff. Today we settle one question: do you start before you feel ready, or do you wait until the feeling arrives? By the end of this episode you will have one action - one - that you can take this week, with what you already have."

BLOCK ONE: "Point one: action comes first, confidence comes after. Confidence is a receipt - it is printed by finished work, not handed out before it. Point two: the first version is tuition. You will pay for the lesson either way - in a rough first attempt that teaches you, or in another year of waiting that teaches you nothing. Point three: done in public beats perfect in private. A real audience tells you the truth a mirror never will."

SONG BREAK 1 - PUFF RADIO SONG, FULL. Under the last 20 seconds, Puff reads: "Everything you hear on this show lives on the site - episodes, songs, and bookings. The address is on the show page. Start there."

BLOCK TWO - THE COUNTERPOINT: "Now the other side, because you are thinking it: 'I'll start when it's right.' Hear this plainly - 'when it's right' has no date, and a plan with no date is a wish. The mistake is not starting badly. The mistake is protecting a perfect version that exists only in your head, while someone less ready takes the room you wanted."

CALLER SEGMENT - HOST QUESTIONS, IN ORDER: "State your goal in one sentence. What have you finished in the last thirty days - finished, not started? What is the smallest version you could put in front of people this week?" Then the verdict and one assignment, in the caller's own numbers.

SONG BREAK 2 - TFB SONG OR CAPITAL GAINS SONG, MATCHING THE TOPIC.

CLOSE: "The action from today: ship the smallest true version this week. Next episode: money in, money out, money kept. Credits roll - this show was made by the Foundry, through the Incubator."

Writing rule for the whole bank: each script is written in full - cold open, both blocks, caller questions, both song-break reads, and close - with talking points at the top, so a fill-in host can run the episode without a briefing.

4. IP Two - TFB - Trust Fund Baby: format, song, website

TFB - GOLD Held as holding-trust IP. TFB carries the podcasts, videos, and events; its format below mirrors the Puff architecture so one script bank serves both stages - radio first, then re-performed as the GTA podcast (Section 7).

The TFB podcast format

Segment	Length	Content and talking points
Cold open	0:30	The episode's sharpest line, spoken over the opening shot.
Theme song	0:15-0:30	Song for TFB - podcast cut; the full cut opens live events.
Welcome and premise	2-3 min	The brand promise in one sentence; what this episode settles.
Block One	8-10 min	Main talking points from the timeless bank, in script order.
Song break 1	Full song	Song for TFB, full version. Under the close: the site offer, read once.
Block Two	8-10 min	The counterpoint, answered with the same points turned around.
Consultation segment	8-12 min	One guest or caller, one business problem, one direct answer (format in Section 7).
Song break 2	Full song	Rotating: the Puff radio song or the Capital Gains song.
Close	2 min	One action restated; next episode named; credits over the theme's outro.

The song for TFB

- Song for TFB: state the brand's promise in the hook; suit both a podcast open and a short social clip; carry no dated references; name TFB inside the first fifteen seconds.

WEBSITE - THE SHOW'S HOME ON THE SITE

TFB show website: website address to be added - click to go to the intake and add it (Section 10)

The TFB page on the site carries: podcast episodes and the GTA-format episodes, the TFB song, event and lecture dates, the apparel drop, and the booking path for consultations and appearances.

The full timeless script for TFB is on the next page.

4. TFB - timeless script, ready to perform

Episode 1 - "Build the Name Before the Product." Timeless: no news, date, or price reference. Talking points: a trusted name sells the second product for free; consistency is a form of advertising; reputation compounds like interest.

COLD OPEN: "People do not buy the first thing you sell them. They buy the name they have already decided to trust. Build the name first - the product will thank you."

THEME SONG (0:15 CUT) - SONG FOR TFB.

WELCOME: "Welcome to TFB. Today we settle the order of operations: name first, or product first? By the end, you will know the one thing to make consistent this week so your name starts working while you sleep."

BLOCK ONE: "Point one: a trusted name sells the second product for free. The first sale costs you effort; every sale after it rides on the name the first one built. Point two: consistency is advertising you do not pay for twice. The same mark, the same promise, the same quality - repeated until the audience can finish your sentence. Point three: reputation compounds. Every kept promise is a deposit; the interest is strangers arriving already convinced."

SONG BREAK 1 - SONG FOR TFB, FULL. Under the last 20 seconds: "TFB lives on the site - episodes, events, and the apparel drop. The address is on the show page."

BLOCK TWO - THE COUNTERPOINT: "The objection sounds smart: 'Nobody knows us yet, so the product has to speak for itself.' It cannot. A product with no name behind it gets judged in three seconds and forgotten in four. The name is what makes a stranger give the product its first honest minute."

CONSULTATION SEGMENT - QUESTIONS, IN ORDER: "What does your name promise, in one sentence? Where does the promise break - product, service, or follow-through? What one thing will you make identical everywhere this week?" Then the verdict and one assignment.

SONG BREAK 2 - PUFF RADIO SONG OR CAPITAL GAINS SONG, MATCHING THE TOPIC.

CLOSE: "The action from today: write the one-sentence promise, and put the same name, mark, and promise on everything this week. Next episode: ownership, explained plainly."

This script also serves as a GTA podcast episode script: same words, performed in-world in the style of Section 7.

5. IP Three - Capital Gains: format, song, website

Section owners: Dj Jones Bey

CAPITAL GAINS - EMERALD Held as holding-trust IP. Capital Gains carries the finance content: podcasts, the money episodes of the shared script bank, and the paid consultation ladder.

The Capital Gains podcast format

Segment	Length	Content and talking points
Cold open	0:30	One money fact, stated plainly, with no promise attached.
Theme song	0:15-0:30	Song for Capital Gains - works under a spoken introduction.
Welcome and premise	2-3 min	What this episode settles about money - and what it will never promise.
Block One	8-10 min	Main talking points from the timeless bank, in script order.
Song break 1	Full song	Song for Capital Gains, full version. Under the close: the consultation offer, read once.
Block Two	8-10 min	The counterpoint - the common money mistake - answered plainly.
Consultation segment	8-12 min	One caller, one money decision, one direct answer (format in Section 7).
Song break 2	Full song	Rotating: the TFB song or the Puff radio song.
Close	2 min	One action restated; next episode named; credits over the theme's outro.

The song for Capital Gains

- Song for Capital Gains: sound like confidence about money without promising returns; name the show in the hook; work under a spoken introduction; carry no dated references.

WEBSITE - THE SHOW'S HOME ON THE SITE

Capital Gains show website: website address to be added - click to go to the intake and add it (Section 10)

The Capital Gains page on the site carries: podcast episodes, the money script bank, consultation booking, lecture dates, and a plain statement that the show teaches and never promises returns.

The full timeless script for Capital Gains is on the next page.

5. Capital Gains - timeless script, ready to perform

Episode 1 - "Money In, Money Out, Money Kept." Timeless: no market call, no date, no price reference. Talking points: the three jobs of income; keeping is a skill separate from earning; the quiet power of a reserve.

COLD OPEN: "Every dollar you will ever make has three jobs - coming in, going out, and staying. Most people only ever train for the first one."

THEME SONG (0:15 CUT) - SONG FOR CAPITAL GAINS.

WELCOME: "Welcome to Capital Gains. We teach money plainly here, and we promise nothing but clarity. Today: the three jobs of income, and why the third job - keeping - decides everything."

BLOCK ONE: "Point one: money in is a skill - earning. Point two: money out is a decision - spending, made daily, mostly on habit. Point three: money kept is a separate skill from both, and it is the one nobody teaches. A reserve is not leftover money; it is money given the third job on purpose, before the second job can claim it. That order - kept before spent - is the whole episode."

SONG BREAK 1 - SONG FOR CAPITAL GAINS, FULL. Under the last 20 seconds: "Consultations are booked on the site - one person, one money decision, a written next step. The address is on the show page."

BLOCK TWO - THE COUNTERPOINT: "The objection: 'I'll keep money when I earn more.' The record says otherwise - spending rises to meet income at every level, because the second job expands unless the third job is paid first. Earning more without the keeping skill only makes the leak bigger."

CONSULTATION SEGMENT - QUESTIONS, IN ORDER: "State the decision in one sentence. What comes in, in real numbers? What goes out, in real numbers? What is kept - and if the answer is nothing, what is the first amount, however small, that gets the third job this week?" Then the verdict and one assignment.

SONG BREAK 2 - TFB SONG OR PUFF RADIO SONG, MATCHING THE TOPIC.

CLOSE: "The action from today: give one amount - any amount - the third job this week, before anything is spent. Next episode: credit without fear."

Conduct note for every Capital Gains episode: teach and explain; never promise a return, a result, or a timeline for anyone's money.

6. Talking points - lists only

Section owners: Dj Jones Bey Puff Niles

This section is lists only - no formats, no scripts, no songs, no website boxes. Three lists, in this order: Puff first, then TFB, then Capital Gains. Each list is written in its own voice, and every point is timeless - usable in any week, with no date or news reference.

Puff - late night comedy and satire show

Voice: late night - a host, a desk, and the week's absurdity taken seriously for exactly one beat too long. The joke is the delivery; the point underneath it is real.

- The monologue opener: one everyday frustration everyone in the room has lived - lines, forms, fees, and fine print - taken to its logical, ridiculous end.
- The official statement: read a pompous, empty phrase the way it deserves to be read - slowly, twice - then translate it into plain words.
- Advice from the audience's group chat: the confident, terrible advice everyone has received, performed straight, then graded.
- The expert who knows nothing: a guest character who answers every question with total certainty and no information.
- Rich people problems, poor people solutions: an extravagant complaint answered with the fix ordinary people actually use.
- The apology tour: the public apology that apologizes for everything except the thing that happened.
- New rules nobody asked for: invented rules for everyday places - the barbershop, the family cookout, the group project - enforced with complete seriousness.
- The product that solves nothing: a pitch, in full infomercial voice, for an item that makes its one problem slightly worse.
- Letters to the show: one listener problem, answered three ways - kind, blunt, and satirical - with the audience picking the winner.
- The closing bit: one true sentence to end on, after the laughs - the point the whole list was walking toward.

6. Talking points - TFB and Capital Gains

Section owners: Dj Jones Bey Puff Niles

TFB - Trust Fund Baby - business centered

Voice: business centered - direct, practical, and measured. No jokes at the listener's expense; every point ends in a decision or an action.

- Build the name before the product: a trusted name sells the second product for free.
- One offer, stated plainly: what it is, who it is for, what it costs, and how to get it - in four sentences.
- Know the numbers: what comes in, what goes out, what is kept - reviewed on a schedule, not on a feeling.
- Consistency is advertising: the same mark, the same promise, the same quality, everywhere, until the audience can finish the sentence.
- Own the work: register the mark, the song, and the script before release - ownership first, exposure second.
- Systems over shifts: if only one person can do it, it is a job, not a business - document it so another person can.
- The clean no: declining the wrong client, price, or partnership early - and keeping the relationship while doing it.
- Partnerships in writing: roles, money, and the exit agreed at the entrance, while everyone is still friendly.
- Prepare in the slow season: build the offer, the site, and the stock before the rush arrives.
- Reputation compounds: every kept promise is a deposit; strangers arrive already convinced.

Capital Gains - fun and edgy

Voice: fun and edgy - sharper, faster, and bolder than TFB, with a hard line underneath: teach and explain, and never promise a return, a result, or a timeline for anyone's money.

- Money in, money out, money kept: three jobs, and most people only ever train for the first one.
- Your spending is telling on you: the statement does not lie, even when the story does.
- Lifestyle creep, caught live: the raise arrived and the leak grew to match it - name the leak.
- Credit without fear: borrow to build, never to appear - and paying on time is reputation you can spend.
- The flex versus the asset: one impresses the room for a night; the other pays the room for years.
- Kept before spent: give the third job its amount first, however small, before the second job claims it.
- Bad money advice, graded: the loudest tip in the room, taken apart in plain numbers.
- Rich habits, regular incomes: the unglamorous moves that work at every level of pay.
- The emergency fund is not boring: it is the difference between a problem and a catastrophe.
- Say it in real numbers: no vague money talk - every claim in this list stands or falls on the figures.

7. GTA podcasts, lectures, consultations, and the GTA 6 style plan

Section owners: State Niles Puff

The GTA podcast, in-game lectures, and consultations

A recurring podcast made inside the game's world: hosts in character and in the city, talking business while the city moves around them, drawing topics from the same timeless bank - one bank of scripts, two stages. Scheduled in-game lectures teach one bank topic live to an in-world audience, are recorded for the podcast feed, and announce consultations and the apparel drop. Consultations are private, booked, paid sessions - one person, one problem, a direct answer and a written next step - booked through the site, which is why the offers are finalized before lectures promote them.

The direct consultation format - "possibly a Kevin Samuels style"

The reference is the call-in format Kevin Samuels built: image consulting first, then live call-in shows where a caller stated a goal, answered short factual questions, and received a blunt verdict. What transfers is the structure:

- Caller states the goal first, in one sentence, before any background.
- Short factual questions - numbers, dates, facts - until the gap between goal and present facts is visible.
- A direct verdict and one assignment, given plainly.
- Presentation counts: the host is immaculately presented and courteous in manner even when the content is hard.
- The Foundry's manner: direct about facts, numbers, and decisions, and courteous to every caller - a caller can be told a plan does not work, and is always treated with respect while hearing it.

The style to build in - GTA 6 trailer grammar, original content only

- Palette: saturated turquoise, pink, orange, and gold - neon nights against sunlit streets.
- Light: golden-hour exteriors rolling into lit neon night in the same sequence.
- Cut: music-led montage over commentary; dialogue scenes played straight between montages.
- Social texture: in-world vertical phone clips and livestream framing cut against cinematic shots.
- Original work only: the plan uses the grammar, never Rockstar's footage, characters, logos, or music.

Mocap AI - how the performances are made

Tool	Use in this plan
Rokoko Vision	Markerless capture from video, free entry tier - test the pipeline on one episode.
Move AI (Move One)	Single-iPhone capture at higher fidelity for the lecture series.
DeepMotion	Browser-based video-to-animation, face and hands - dialogue-heavy scenes.
Plask	Fast browser capture and editing for short social clips.

Tool names and tiers are as reported in October 2026 roundups; confirm current pricing on each vendor's site before any subscription is approved. No tool is subscribed to by this brief.

8. The calendar - launch week and sale week collide

Section owners: State Niles Puff

Read this first. Grand Theft Auto VI launches Thursday, November 19, 2026 - per Rockstar's November 2025 announcement, reaffirmed by publisher Take-Two. Thanksgiving is Thursday, November 26; Black Friday is Friday, November 27; Small Business Saturday is November 28; Cyber Monday is Monday, November 30. The biggest content moment and the biggest selling week of the year land eight days apart. Plan one campaign in two movements: attention (launch) converted into sales (holiday).

Date	Moment	Proposed Foundry move - for approval
Fri Oct 30 - Sat Oct 31, 2026	Halloween weekend	Teaser only: first GTA-style test clip and the finalized logo, with the launch date named. No sale.
Mon Nov 9, 2026	Ten days before launch	Site live with offers; apparel samples approved and drop listed as "coming"; lecture schedule published.
Thu Nov 19, 2026	GTA VI launch	Launch-week content run begins: GTA podcasts, first in-game lecture, daily clips in the style of Section 7.
Thu Nov 19 - Sun Nov 22	Launch weekend	Proposed Sale 1 - Launch Offer: consultation and lecture bundle at launch pricing.
Thu Nov 26, 2026	Thanksgiving	No selling. A gratitude post and a timeless episode on family and business, drawn from the Section 6 talking points.
Fri Nov 27, 2026	Black Friday	Proposed Sale 2 - Black Friday: the apparel drop goes live; site offers at holiday prices for one day.
Sat Nov 28, 2026	Small Business Saturday	The Foundry's own day: the story of the six founders, the Incubator, and buying from a small house on purpose.
Mon Nov 30, 2026	Cyber Monday	Proposed Sale 3 - Cyber Monday: digital offers only - consultations, lectures, digital products.
Fri Dec 25, 2026	Christmas Day	Holiday close: a year-in-review episode; gift consultations remain on sale through December.

All sale dates, discounts, and prices are proposals for approval, not decisions. Apparel ordered on Black Friday from a print-on-demand platform must be checked against that platform's Christmas delivery cut-off before any delivery date is promised.

9. Apparel - high-quality print on demand, for approval

Print on demand means each garment is printed only after it is ordered - no inventory, no stockroom. Five quality platforms, compared on the same terms. None is chosen by this brief. Mark one for samples; do not list the drop until a sample of the hero garment has been worn, washed, and approved.

Platform	Best for	Quality and branding notes	Link for approval
1. Fourthwall	Creators - all-in-one storefront plus merch	Premium garments (Comfort Colors, AS Colour, Cotton Heritage); built-in store, checkout, and YouTube / TikTok integrations; no platform fee on physical products on the free plan, as reported.	fourthwall.com/design-and-sell/custom-merch
2. Printful	Consistent premium quality	Own facilities; embroidery, custom labels, branded pack-ins; 2-5 day production as reported; higher base prices, thinner margins.	printful.com/print-on-demand
3. Apliiq	A real clothing label, not just merch	Private-label specialist: woven labels, neck prints, hangtags, embroidery; premium blanks; US production; slower (7-10 days with branding).	apliiq.com/print-on-demand/
4. Printify	Margin and choice of printer	Network of independent providers - lowest base prices, widest catalog, quality varies by provider; sample and lock one provider per garment.	printify.com/sell-on-shopify-print-on-demand
5. Gelato	International buyers	Local production in 32 countries, 250+ partners; overseas orders ship locally and faster; apparel is part of a broader catalog.	gelato.com/print-on-demand

> Recommendation - not a decision. Sample Apliiq and Fourthwall side by side: Apliiq for label and finish, Fourthwall for the storefront. Printful is the safe single-vendor choice. Order samples before any Black Friday listing is promised.

Descriptions draw on vendor pages and October 2026 roundups. Confirm prices on the linked page at approval time.

11. Minutes and reporting - continued

Section owners: Dj Jones Bey Puff

Reporting rhythm - how the house reports from here

- At every meeting: minutes in the form above - present, reported work, decisions, actions - read back and agreed before the meeting closes.
- Between meetings: each founder reports on his own color lines only: task, status (not started / in progress / done), and the one thing blocking it.
- Intake answers land here: every answer added through Section 10 is logged on the matching reporting line at the next meeting, so no fact lives only in a chat or a memory.
- Blank minutes form, for the next meeting: Date ____ Present ____ Reported work ____ Decisions ____ Actions (owner, by color) ____ Next meeting ____

12. Decisions requested - approve by number

1. Approve the six-founder standing and the color assignments in Section 1.
2. Approve the order of work and the color-coded owners in Section 2; record first tasks for Chuck and OC through the intake.
3. Approve the Puff radio format and its full timeless script (Section 3), and the two Puff songs - the intro with State and the radio song.
4. Approve the TFB format, script, and song (Section 4).
5. Approve the Capital Gains format, script, and song (Section 5).
6. Approve the three talking-point lists in Section 6 - Puff (late night comedy and satire), TFB (business centered), and Capital Gains (fun and edgy) - owners Dj Jones Bey Puff Niles.
7. Approve the direct consultation format (Section 7) and the GTA 6 style and Mocap AI route, starting with one test episode.
8. Approve, move, or strike each proposed sale date (Section 8): Launch Offer Nov 19-22; Black Friday Nov 27; Cyber Monday Nov 30, 2026.
9. Choose the apparel platform(s) to sample (Section 9), by platform number.
10. Fill in the clickable intake (Section 10) - Dj Jones Bey alone owns this section; every field opens its reporting line.
11. Adopt the minutes and reporting rhythm (Section 11) - owners Dj Jones Bey Puff - and confirm the website address for each show in the hub.

Logo, site, and offers - what "finalize" means

- Logo: one final mark, approved once, then locked: full mark, icon-only mark, one-color version, and the exact colors and type on one page, so apparel, site, and video never drift apart.
- Site: each property's page finished to its website box in Sections 3-5 and its hub line in Section 11, with a working contact and booking path, tested by placing a real test booking from a phone.
- Offers: confirmed, priced, or struck out in the intake (Section 10) - never invented in the content.
